U. S. Freedom Not Appreciated

Impression of America Given By German Girl Visiting Here

A 21-year-old German girl who looks like the prototype of an American college coed is here in Washington C. H., finding out all about Americans in this typical rural community.

She is Sigrid Schaal, Miss Schaal arrived here in time to visit both the Fayette County Fair and the Soil Conservation Field Day.

Her primary aim is to get an insight into American homelife and particularly in homes where both parents and their children are vitally interested in 4-H Club work.

She finds the hospitality of the Tom Christopher home on 919 Lincoln Drive ideal for this purpose.

Actually, Miss Schaal had little to do with selecting the Christophers. They picked her, and their selection has proved unbeatable, according to Mrs. Christopher.

Their visitor was the first girl chosen in Germany to visit the United States under a program financed by the National 4-H Club Foundation of America, Inc., an organization which gets money for the exchange of American and foreign students by direct donation.

Visits in Three States

Miss Schaal has been in three states since her arrival in the United States—Utah, Nebraska and Ohio—and she has attended Miami University for a time. She has lived with families in Union, Franklin, Butler, Richland and Fayette counties in Ohio.

Wherever she has gone, she has been the subject of newspaper articles. Enough has been printed about her that she has a sizeable scrapbook which she is taking back with her to Germany.

Her last impressions of the United States will be obtained here in Fayette County, for she is planning to leave from here, August 12 for the East Coast to board the SS Washington, August 15 for Germany, and home.

Since this is her last stop in a country she has learned to appreciate for all its strengths and weaknesses, it was fortunate that the Record-Herald was able to obtain a lengthy interview before her departure.

For more than a year her impressions have had an opportunity to get and they emerge with more clarity than first impressions would.

Things in Common

Miss Schaal, appreciative of all that the Americans have done for her, was hesitant about saying anything critical of this country. She emphasized that she preferred to stress the things which her people and Americans have in common, rather than their differences.

But after some convincing that Americans like to know what others think of them, Miss Schaal gave her impressions with lucidity.

One of her interesting comments was: "The rushing around of Americans reminds me of home. American people seem to be very hard workers. I think they take more time for pleasure than we do (Please turn to Page Eight)

Record Budget For Military Is Given Approval

Peacetime Spending For Defense Heads For All-time Peak

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 —(AP)—A record $56,062,405,890 peacetime military budget was approved today by the House appropriations committee.

It is $1,542,608,500 less than the president requested and does not include $4,500,000 for public works construction to be considered later this year. Neither does it include financing of the fighting in Korea since June 30, the bill for that to be footed in a later measure.

With that one exception, the present measure is to finance the defense department for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Accompanying the big money bill to the House for debate starting Wednesday was a statement by Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.). It sharply rebuked the military for wasteful manpower and procurement practices. Mahon is chairman of a subcommittee that wrote the bill after several months of hearings.

Half for Equipment

More than half the bill's total is for buying military "hardware"—tanks, planes, guns, rockets, weapons and other supplies for a military manpower force of 3,500,000.

About $15,000,000,000 is for aircraft and component parts to give this country what the committee called "the most powerful striking force ever placed in the hands of any nation."

Here's how the money would be allotted, by services:

Army: $20,125,574,665, a cut of $685,321,500 from what it wanted.

Navy: $15,552,143,225, a cut of $194,272,000.

Air Force: $19,834,128,000, a cut of $647,015,000.

National Security Council: $180,000, no cut.

National Security Resources Board: $1,600,000, no cut.

Secretary of Defense: $528,800,000, a cut of $18,000,000; out of this allotment comes retirement pay of $345,000,000.

The committee gave no details on the amount in the bill for research and development. But Mahon said the funds for this purpose were adequate to keep the United States in the lead in developing new weapons and defenses for anything a potential enemy may have.

Mediterranean Fleet Is Built Up by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 —(AP)—The navy is building up its fleet strength in the Mediterranean. This may be one of the reasons why the U. S. is moving now for an arrangement with Spain to use naval and air bases in that country.

Since it began operating in the Mediterranean soon after World War II the 6th Fleet has relied on a method of service and supply like that used in the Pacific campaigns. All of its fuel, food and other supplies are from "train" auxiliary vessels steaming with the fleet—tankers, cargo vessels, refrigerator ships, repair craft.

Because the train must get its supplies back in home ports of the east coast United States, this means a "pipeline" of 1,500 miles must be maintained.

8 Killed in Crash

FORD JUNCTION, Eng., Aug. 6 —(AP)—At least eight persons were killed and more than 50 injured in a holiday train crash here yesterday.

Homemade Rubber 'Barrel' Torn Apart

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 6 —(AP)—William "Red" Hill pressed his luck too far and lost his life trying to go over Niagara Falls in a homemade rubber "barrel."

But already his younger brother, Lloyd, is preparing to try the same daredevil feat—in a steel barrel. Lloyd said last night he'd probably make his attempt next Sunday.

The 38-year-old "Red" had teased fate for years on the treacherous rapids of the Niagara River.

His ambition was to become the fourth person to go over the falls and live.

But yesterday, with 200,000 spectators lining the river banks, his rubber barrel failed him and he was swept to death over the 165-foot Canadian horseshoe falls.

He was the third person to die in the attempt.

Searchers found Hill's body this morning in the lower river basin, at the Maid of the Mist Company's Canadian dock. Hope had been abandoned yesterday, when Hill's shoes were found in the innertube

Threatened into Confessing Expelled Cadets Now Claim

It Is Denied; Football Hit By Scandals

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 6 —(AP)—Several cadets say they admitted cheating at examinations after military academy officials threatened them with loss of citizenship, perjury citations and prison terms.

A "stool pigeon" was used to obtain information on the alleged cribbing, say a number of the cadets facing dismissal from West Point for violating the school's honor system.

These allegations, immediately denied by an academy spokesman, were made yesterday as a special screening board started final examination of each cadet's case.

Ninety cadets were accused Friday of classroom cheating. Their identities were withheld, but slowly they and their parents were beginning to speak up in bitter criticism of the army's action.

In Washington, senators and congressmen debated the need for an investigation into the dismissals and discussed the possibility of de-emphasizing sports, particularly football, at the academy.

There were reports 44 players on the vaunted Army football team were involved in the scandal. The captain-elect of the 1951 team, Harold J. Loehelein, told newsmen yesterday he was one of those dismissed.

Loehein, who also was president-elect of the senior class, said that "many cadets involved have not yet admitted their guilt." The Kimball, Minn., cadet added:

"We are not culprits, not incompetents, and have not corrupted the nation's morals. We are 90 individuals apparently unfit for the academy, although fit for the army itself."

This latter statement referred to the fact that dismissed cadets will be eligible for the draft.

Battlefront Lull Follows Advances; Clouds Slow Planes

TOKYO, Aug. 6 —(AP)—Four members of the Allied truce team flew to Tokyo from Korea tonight to confer with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway on stalled armistice talks in Kaesong.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior United Nations envoy, and three other negotiators went directly from the airport to Ridgway's headquarters.

Presumably, they will help the Allied supreme commander draft a reply to the Communist apology for the presence of armed Chinese soldiers within Kaesong's neutral zone Saturday.

That reply may clear the way for the resumption of the talks, possibly Tuesday morning (Monday evening, EST.)

About 150 Chinese soldiers, armed with rifles, machine guns and hand grenades, marched within a few hundred yards of the UN staff house during the lunch-hour recess Saturday.

Ridgway broke off the talks early Sunday morning, and demanded assurances it wouldn't happen again.

Commies Apologize

The Reds apologized over Peiping radio Sunday, and asked that talks be resumed immediately. They said it was an "accident," and steps were being taken to insure the incident wouldn't be repeated.

They also replied directly to Ridgway, but the text of that message was not disclosed.

If the talks resume Tuesday, the Reds and Allies will again come to grips on the problem of a cease-fire buffer zone.

The Reds want it along the 38th Parallel, pre-war political border between North and South Korea. (Please turn to Page Two)

Lausche Invites Gen. Ike To Speak

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6 —(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche said today he has invited General Dwight D. Eisenhower to address the National Governors' Conference in Gatlinburg, Tenn., in September.

The governor issued the invitation last Friday, the day after he conferred with the president at the White House. He said he has not received a reply.

The governor declined comment on his statement after the White House meeting that he had urged President Truman to seek re-election in 1952.

Youth Confesses He Shot Father

DALLAS, Aug. 6 —(AP)—A slender, teen-age youth told police he shot his wealthy father to death yesterday because, "he kept after me for staying out late at night."

Slain was Wallace E. Hawkins, 56, vice-president and general counsel of the Magnolia Petroleum Company. Detective Capt. Will Fritz said the 16-year-old John Michael Hawkins admitted he shot his sleeping father in his fashionable home.

The boy cannot be charged with murder under Texas law.

Oil on River Ablaze Near Heart of Columbus

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6 —(AP)—An oil slick on the Scioto River caught fire near downtown Columbus yesterday. It shot black smoke high into the sky and attracted thousands of spectators. Assistant Fire Chief Joseph Cassell said the fire apparently started when a fisherman threw a match into the river. There was no loss.

East German Sailor Escapes to Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 6 —(AP)—An East German sailor was safe in Sweden today after jumping off a Soviet zone trawler to escape from Communism.

The 57-year-old sailor was picked up yesterday by Swedish pilots while swimming midway between Sweden and Denmark. He told authorities two other men had jumped with him. But apparently the others were recaptured.

Princess Margaret Linked in Romance With an American

LONDON, Aug. 6 —(AP)—Princess Margaret was linked romantically by London newspapers yesterday with the 24-year-old stepson of an American newspaperman.

The princess touched off newspaper reports of romance by prolonging her stay at the country home of Herbert Agar, former editor of the Louisville Courier Journal, until Wednesday. She had been scheduled to leave today to join the king and queen at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

Agar's stepson, Billy Wallace, a wealthy, polo playing blueblood, has been Margaret's escort at all major social events this season.

Construction in Ohio Showing Big Increase

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6 —(AP)—Ohio construction activity increased 91 percent in May over April, the Bulletin of Business Research, Ohio State University, said today. The value of contracts awarded in May, 1951, was 75 percent above the level of May, 1950.

Agricultural incomes dropped one percent in May from April but was 29 percent over the same period in 1950.

Meanderings By Wash Fayette

I understand the State Highway Department is desirous of establishing a new roadside park on one of the main highways within a short distance of Washington C. H.

Present information is that the roadside park at the Fairground here is to be closed within a short time.

The one on the Greenfield Road, at Wabash Creek, also has been lost due to polluted water.

This leaves two parks in Fayette County, one on Route 35 near West Lancaster, and the other on Route 22 at Compton Creek.

Anyone having land available for lease for park purposes within a short distance of the city, I believe, will find the State Highway Department interested.

Thousands of local residents as well as many others have enjoyed picnics and rest at the roadside park at the Fairground, and its loss will be keenly felt.

Southern Towns Fight Over General's Body

WINCHESTER, Va., Aug. 6 —(AP)—If the general were alive today, he might think he was in the midst of another revolution.

Gen. Daniel Morgan, hero of the American Revolution, isn't alive. Hasn't been, in fact, for some 149 years. But a couple of southern towns are about to start another civil war over his body.

It was about a month ago the Winchester Lions Club received a letter from the Lions Club of Cowpens, S. C. The South Carolinians wanted to transfer the body of Gen. Morgan from Mt. Hebron Cemetery here to Cowpens, where the general won his fame.

The local Lions said, "Sorry," it wasn't their affair. They referred the matter to the Winchester-Frederick County Historical Society.

Nothing more was heard of the idea—until yesterday.

Without warning, a Cowpens undertaker and two Negro assistants arrived at Mt. Hebron Cemetery and informed Superintendent

Oscar Harry they'd come to get Gen. Morgan's body and monument.

The unidentified undertaker presented credentials from a descendant of Gen. Morgan in Redwood City, Calif. They authorized removal of the body to South Carolina. There also was a letter from the mayor of Cowpens authorizing the transfer.

But Harry wasn't impressed. No court order, no body.

Equally unimpressed were members of the local historical society. They sent two men to (Please turn to Page Two)

3 Explorers Are Rescued

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 6 —(AP)—The query -- "Norsemen?" -- trumped out in the snow on an Alaskan mountain led to the rescue yesterday of three explorers marooned by the disappearance of their expedition's plane.

The message referred to a Norseman plane with three aboard which vanished July 27.

Rescued from Mt. Hubbard in the Alaska panhandle by a ski-wheel equipped C-47 of the air force were Walter A. Wood of Far Hills, N. J., his son, Peter, 20, and Robert Bates, believed from Boston. Wood was in charge of ice studies for the Arctic Institute.

Lost aboard the Norseman were explorer Maurice King, Wood's wife and their daughter, Valerie.

New Traffic Laws All Set for Ohio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6 —(AP)—Ohio's latest traffic laws are designed to give both the pedestrian and the motorist an even break.

A lot of people who jump the gun in crossing the street on the yellow signal will be breaking the law starting Sept. 11. It says so in the amendments to the uniform traffic act of Ohio passed by the 99th General Assembly.

The yellow signal serves as a warning to motorists that they must prepare to yield the right of way to pedestrians.

If you commit a violation in an area where official signs are not easily seen, no arrest can be made. But the old rules of careful, intelligent driving still hold good.

A debatable situation has been cleared up in the matter of school zones. Signs giving official notice of a school zone automatically bring in the statute speed limit of 20 miles per hour.

Drivers making a left turn must approach the turn from the extreme left lane and when turning into a one way street must go into the extreme left lane available.

Chiang's Troops Found Wanting

Training, Equipment And Weapons Needed

By SPENCER MOOSA

TOLEDO, Aug. 6.—(P)—A lot more effort is needed to whip together Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalist armed forces into an effective, hard-hitting organization.

Maj. Gen. William C. Chase and his United States military aid group are making the effort.

Chiang's forces, commonly estimated at a half million men, need more training, more ammunition, more food, more pay and more equipment all the way from leather shoes to guns.

Although the health of Chiang's soldiers is better than it was on the mainland, the troops need more rations. Some suffer from night blindness because of inadequate food. There is a need for proper preventative measures against malaria and other diseases.

The troops need more pay but cannot get it without imposing a still heavier burden on the already hard-pressed economy. The take-home pay of a private is 50 cents a month in American currency. For a lieutenant colonel it is six dollars a month. More pay would be a valuable morale factor.

Part-time Farmers

The troops do not get sufficient time for training because many are used part time as farmers to grow food and supplement their rations.

Some of the top brass could well be retired to make way for younger, healthier and more capable officers. The officers need more freedom of decision in carrying out assignments. There now is too much red tape in making the decisions.

Chiang's forces need spare parts and tools for weapons and vehicles. Presently they do not have sufficient vehicles to carry on administration within their units.

Chiang's navy could use many things, particularly LCTs (landing craft - tanks). By destroying bridges, an attacker could cut Formosa into segments. Chiang therefore must depend on the navy to help move men and equipment between sectors.

His air force needs more fighters for defense.

The army must be taught how to maintain and use equipment. It needs standardization of weapons within units. You can find three types of rifles within a single unit.

The army lacks adequate training areas. Heavy movements of men and equipment would ruin farm land. There isn't enough gasoline for training purposes. Reserve supplies of guns and ammunition have to be increased.

Too Few Combat Soldiers

The Nationalists also think they need more troops. Foreign quarters don't share this view. Nationalist headquarters are over-stuffed in comparison with the U. S. army.

There are too many sentries, too much administrative personnel and too few combat troops.

Many officers are under grade for the positions they hold. In some cases, colonels command divisions. The commander-in-chief of ground forces, three-star Gen. Sun Li-jen, is outranked by officers of the war advisory board.

American officers dislike the system of political officers within Nationalist combat units. These officers apparently have considerable power. They are even said to be able to relieve and replace officers without consulting commanding officers.

Fear of these political officers is tremendous. The officers take their orders from the defense ministry's political warfare board. The board presently is under Chiang's son, Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo.

There is one major thing which the Nationalists have done for themselves. They have eliminated paper soldiers -- mythical troops, whose pay used to go into the pockets of their commanders.

There is a proper pay system now. Every man is accounted for, the soldier gets his pay regularly and some foreigners with a close knowledge of the army say that graft is a thing of the past.

Elections Here

councilmen will have to be elected Nov. 8. Until Secretary of State Ted Brown gave his ruling last Thursday, preparations were being made to elect only three.

Petitions either have been filed or are now being circulated for Baughn, who agreed to seek reelection, Ralph V. Taylor, a former councilman, Robert Sanderson, Jr., Paul VanVoorhis, Ora Bellar and John Sowders. Reliable reports Monday morning said that C. L. Musser's petitions were being circulated.

Both of these elections are non-partisan and there has been nothing to indicate partisan politics have been injected, or will be injected, into the campaigns.

Situations similar to those here were developing all over Ohio.

The deadline is of particular interest to aspirants for offices in townships, school districts and municipalities under 2,000 population. Those units of government do not hold primary elections. They choose their officers from a non-partisan ballot in the November election.

Villages under 2,000 population can obtain permission for a primary election but Brown's staff does not recall any such requests over the years.

A few villages, like some cities, have charters that permit them to regulate their selection of governing officials.

In villages and cities that held primary elections last May 8, anyone who wants to contest the nominees for office must qualify by Wednesday as an independent to get on the November ballot.

Several cities and villages did not hold primary elections last May. They are not required when candidates or contests for office are lacking.

Townships will elect trustees, clerks, justices of the peace and constables from non-partisan ballots. Villages under 2,000 will name councilmen, mayors, clerks and treasurers the same way.

But for villages over 2,000 and cities that held primaries, voters will mark party ballots for which independent candidates can qualify through Wednesday.

Grain Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(P)—Grains drifted along quietly with small price changes on the Board of Trade today. There was nothing in the news to cause heavy buying or selling. With the exception of corn, a slightly weaker tone was shown through most of the session. Corn was held up by a steady demand for the cash grain, as well as relatively small receipts.

Financial Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(P)—Prices wavered today in the stock market without developing any concerted direction. But there was plenty of localized activity. Steels and motors, for example, were active and higher, and the rubber division developed surprising strength after a lagging start. There were some outstanding performers in the chemical section, too, but elsewhere prices moved narrowly in a mixed pattern. Changes seldom amounted to more than a few cents among most of the active issues.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(AP)—This is an ABC on rent controls. The new rent control law, which went into effect this week, was laid on top of the old law, still in effect.

So what we have is the same rent control law with changes. These are the two main changes: (A.) The government now can put controls on any community, whether or not it's ever been under controls, but only if that place is considered a critical part of the defense program.

(B.) Landlords in places still under control can boost their rents to 20 percent above what they were on June 30, 1947. For many this will mean no more than a five percent increase since many already have been permitted a 15 percent increase over June 30, 1947.

(Note: This, of course, applies only to places still under federal control. Landlords in uncontrolled places can do as they please.)

There are no federal controls in New York, the only state with its own statewide rent control law. Thirty-eight other states have federal ceilings in one or more communities.

The following part of the old law remains unchanged:

1. Tighe Woods, who did and still does handle rent controls, can step in and wipe out federal ceilings in any area which still has them whenever he decides there's enough housing there to meet demands.

And he can go back into any area where he has on his own initiative lifted controls and reimpose them. But -- he can do this nowhere else.

2. If, in an area still under control the local rent advisory council suggests to Woods there's no longer need for controls, he can lift them but doesn't have to. He usually does, though.

In such a case, where his action is voluntary, he can go back any time and put on the controls again. But if he refuses to lift the controls in the first place, and then is forced to because the council went to court and got a verdict against him, he can't reimpose the controls.

3. When a city government or state legislature decides federal controls are no longer needed, they end and Woods can't reimpose them.

4. And when a state substitutes its own rent control for federal control, Woods can't reimpose. For example, Woods can't put controls back in any part of New York which, as explained, has its own law.

All this so far deals only with Woods' power to reimpose controls. But under the new law federal controls can be placed on any community, whether or not it has ever been under controls and no matter how it has been decontrolled, but only in this way:

The secretary of defense, George Marshall, and Charles E. Wilson, boss of defense mobilization, must first decide that such a place is critically in need of controls for the good of the defense program. So where Woods can reimpose controls only where he himself has decontrolled, Marshall and Wilson can decide on controls for any community.

They can do that to a whole city or just part of a city. For example, the area around an important defense plant. And where Woods' power to re-control is limited mostly to housing units, Marshall and Wilson can put controls on any kind of housing.

Further, whenever Marshall and Wilson decide an area must be controlled, the government must relax in that area its nationwide restrictions on credit for new housing. Example: The size of the down payment. The reason: To get housing built in that area faster.

There are a couple of points to keep in mind:

1. When Marshall and Wilson decide on rent controls for an area, they still can be wiped out if the city council or state legislature wants them ended. But they can stay wiped out only for 30 days. Then the government can step in and order the controls again.

2. New York, the only state with its own statewide controls, is a notable exception to all that's been said about the new law. The government can't impose federal controls in New York unless it finds that rents in New York as a whole have been rising faster than rents in the nation as a whole.

As for landlords: Those who want to boost their rents to 20 percent above what they were on June 30, 1947, can do so immediately after filing a sworn application with their local rent offices.

Business Braces for Changes Expected To Come When and If Peace Comes to War in Korea

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 — (AP) — The door to peace in Korea opened wide today. And businessmen, expecting a cease-fire before hot weather wanes, looked to Congress for the answer to what lies ahead for industry and trade the rest of this year.

Action on taxes and controls and management of the once more mounting federal debt will henceforth determine, businessmen feel, the course of business more than the fortunes of battle in Korea--which have ruled the markets in the last year. Most businessmen take for granted that the momentum of defense spending will carry over for some time, no matter if the pace might be slower later on.

The full-dress peace calaver starts in Korea just as the cost of living turns down for the first time in 16 months. It comes as a commodity futures index drops below its year ago level. Spot commodity prices, although weak since February, still hold above their pre-Korea level. A cease-fire could further reduce prices and take more of the heat out of the cost of living.

Oil Industry Program
The formal trade talks come just as the oil industry steps up production to offset the loss of Iranian oil -- and just as the United States thinks it may have a solution for the British-Iranian squabble.

As peace hopes gain strength in Korea, businessmen here are trying to work off heavy inventories in many lines -- inventories built up during the scares when war seemed about to jump the boundaries of Korea and enflame the rest of the world. In most business lines, hope runs high today that inventories will be in line by fall and business will start on the upgrade again. But peace talk could further weaken retail prices this summer and conceivably increase the promotion and clearance sales in the stores.

Large carry-over stocks of wheat, rye and all feed grains are reported today by the agriculture department, ensuring the nation plenty to eat. Prospects for large crops this year still remain bright, in spite of storm and flood damage in large areas.

Hope for Idle Workers

A cease-fire might give thousands now laid off in auto centers hope of getting back on the job sooner. Some businessmen feel controls over scarce materials might now be relaxed, if the nation decides to take more time in building up its military strength, and thus not cut back so sharply on production of consumers goods.

And so, businessmen will watch Congress closer than ever.

Fun To Retire If Plan Good

Hobby Logical Step With More Time

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEWARK, N. J.—The days of retirement should be a time for fun. Handled sensibly, this period of life is the time to do things you've always wanted to try but never had the time.

So says Ray Giles, in "Begin Now to Enjoy Tomorrow," being published by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., he cites numerous men and women in the 40-plus group who have turned retirement into the happiest, busiest years of their lives.

Bernard Baruch is one, says Giles. As a young man, his goal was to retire and become an unpaid servant of the public. This second career has kept him mentally and physically vigorous.

A retired accountant, Frederick Wolcott Dearing, became an Episcopal minister at the age of 72. He did it, not by luck or accident but by careful planning through his business life.

Dr. John F. Russell, a general practitioner, retired in 1910 at the age of 54. He immediately turned to a new career--in his attic laboratory--investigating the relationship between diet and tuberculosis. This research occupied him until he was past 90.

Through his years of medical practice, Dr. Addison Baird wished he had time to help patients with their non-medical problems. When he retired after 30 years, he picked up a big job of counselling men and women with personal troubles--without charge.

Will Wurster was interested in butterflies all his life. When he retired he opened a small office and from there bought, sold and swapped rare specimens from all over the world.

Stanford University psychologist Lillian J. Martin retired when she was 65. She opened a preschool children's clinic, began counselling men and women over 50. She started to write on the adjustment problems of the middle-aged, learned to drive a car at 73, learned Spanish at 88.

Heinrich Schliemann, a Dutch businessman interested in archaeology, retired--a wealthy man--when he was 50. He immediately took up a career for which he had long studied and prepared himself. It was Schliemann who located and dug up remains of Helelenic Troy.

A retired Pittsburgh man and his wife have a hobby of making Christmas toys for the city's underprivileged children. A New Rochelle, N. Y., couple have taken up photography as a hobby--and win prizes all over the lot. A New Hampshire husband and wife team made so many articles as a hobby they've started a successful gift shop. started out by making a backyard sundial, became interested in time-pieces and began making replicas of horological curiosities. Their collection has been exhibited in fairs. Wedding Vows Read July 28 Are Announced

Miss Kathy Frances McCurdy and Pfc. Winton J. Yates were united in marriage at 11:15 A. M. Saturday, July 28, in the picturesque chapel of St. Mark's Episcopal Church in San Antonio, Tex.

The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. McCurdy of near Washington C. H., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Yates of 517 Gregg Street, Washington C. H. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Washington C. H. high school.

After a short church service, the rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church administered Holy Communion to the couple then united them in marriage, which was a double ring ceremony.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the party.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of white embroidered organdy and an orchid corsage. Her head adornment was white lace, trimmed with pearls and rhinestones and had matching accessories.

The bride has been employed for the past two years at the Western Union office in Logansport, Ind., and the groom for the past year has been serving in the United States Air Force at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. He is enroute to a port of embarkation for overseas duty.

The bride returned to Logansport, Ind., where she will continue to maintain her residence and employment for the present.

Bride-elect Is Honored at Shower-Tea

Misses Jeanne Perrill, Sharon Rettig, Ann James and Kay Morter made up a charming group of hostesses on Sunday when they entertained at the home of Miss Perrill at a tea and bridal shower between the hours of three and five o'clock in the afternoon, and included fifty guests.

The occasion honored Miss Dixie Lee Ellison, whose marriage to Mr. Jerry Dray will be an event of early September.

Beautiful flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Russell Beatty, aunt of Miss Ellison, decorated the spacious rooms, and the beautifully appointed tea table, which was centered with a crystal shower watergarden of roses and gladioli in lovely pastel shades.

The color scheme of pastels was further carried out in the tempting delicacies, and Mrs. Beatty presided over the punch bowl, with Miss Helen Louise Hynes Bridgeport in 1946. She was associated with the Cleveland Clinic Hospital before coming here as surgical nurse in Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Patton, a graduate of Washington C. H. High School in 1941, and of Ohio University in 1948, spent three years in the meantime as a member of the Army Air Force. He is now assistant manager of the Patton Book Store.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were those from Springfield, Xenia and Cleveland.

LOST 40 LBS. ADELPHIA LADY PRAISES RENNEL

Here's what Mrs. Mildred Brokaw, Box 242, Adelphi, Ohio writes us: "I am 30 years old, 5 ft. 3 inches tall and when I started taking Rennel I weighed 175 lbs. I always had a miserable stuffed-up feeling and could hardly stoop to tie my shoes. Thanks to Rennel I now weigh 135 lbs., feel fine and look better. My dress size has changed from 40 to 16. I have recommended it to all my friends. Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Don't be switched to another product, insist on genuine Rennel.

Friends may call at the residence in Columbus, on the James Road, until 10 A. M. Tuesday. The body will be brought to the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in Washington C. H., where it will lie in state until 2 P. M. Tuesday, when the funeral services will be held. Burial will be made in the Washington Cemetery.

Outstanding 4-H Club Boy and Girl Selected for This County

Joanne Cleland and John Melvin are two of the proudest 4-H clubbers in the county. They were selected as the outstanding 4-H Club boy and girl.

Their records on 4-H work and their explanations of how it has helped them, their home and community point out a number of reasons why they are tops but, according to the judges, there were many other youngsters in 4-H work who had good records.

Joanne, who has been in 4-H club work since 1946, has an outstanding record. She has completed 24 different projects in the six years she has been in 4-H work.

An interesting thing about her record is that she has not only completed projects in clothing and cooking, but she has also done a great deal of livestock raising.

Her list of completed projects shows she has done work valued at $327.10. They include aprons, cotton dresses, "dress-up" dresses, cakes and cookies. She has raised six pigs and five lambs during the six years.

Also listed is work in the junior and senior 4-H band, a counselor at 4-H camp and work on soil conservation and the study of insects.

Joanne contributes many things which have helped her, her family and her community, to the 4-H.

Starts in Clinton County

It was while she was living in Clinton County in 1946, Joanne was encouraged to join a 4-H Club. From that time until she moved to Fayette County in 1949, she had learned a great deal about 4-H work.

When she moved to this county, she found there were no 4-H Clubs in her community, she and her brother, who is also well known for his club work, told their friends at school about the clubs, and two clubs were organized.

Joanne's parents were advisors of the two clubs, her father being the advisor of the 4-H Champs livestock club and her mother being the advisor of the Clover Belles girl's club.

These are some of the main reasons why Joanne was given a trophy as the outstanding 4-H girl in the community this year.

Johnny's record also has many outstanding points to show why he was selected as the outstanding 4-H boy in the county.

Without any help from his parents, Johnny has built up a fine flock of sheep and an outstanding herd of beef cattle since his start in 4-H work in 1943.

Starts Raising Sheep

Johnny points out the reason he started to raise sheep was that he was so small he was afraid he couldn't handle any larger animals.

The first two years he was in 4-H work, Johnny raised five fattening lambs. He received a rating of "B" on the first two lambs and "A" on the other three. Since then he has received seven "A's" and three "B's" for his livestock work.

In 1945, Johnny raised a purebred ram and ewe, and the following year, another ram and two ewes.

After raising three more ewes, Johnny started in on beef cattle. In 1947, he raised his first steer and the following year a heifer, valued at $1,000. During this same year he also raised three more ewes and another ram.

Johnny then raised a cow and a calf and a 4-H heifer, which were added to his herd. In 1950, he raised a bull, two cows and a calf and then took on the job of learning tractor maintenance.

This year Johnny continued to build his beef herd as well as continuing his work in studying the repair and maintenance of tractors and other farm equipment.

Johnny has also been very active in junior leadership groups and has been a counselor at the 4-H Camp. He has also been very active in a number of school and community projects, which have given him an opportunity to put to use some of the many helpful things he has learned while in 4-H Club work.

Dogs Haven't Chance

BRIDGETOWN, N. S. —(AP)—Appointing a regular pound-keeper, council here set a rate of $2 for each unlicensed dog picked up, plus 25 cents a day board for each animal and 50 cents for each dog destroyed on an order from the police chief.

The original habitat of the potato is believed to have been Peru or Chile where it grew wild on the high Andes plateaus.

WHILE FARMER Raymond T. Bailey sits disconsolately in background, New York sanitation department men empty his bushel baskets of stringbeans into a garbage truck at Bronx terminal market. Bailey hauled them to market to sell for $2 a bushel minimum. He was offered from 25 cents to a dollar top. He said the baskets cost 25 cents apiece, picking cost 50 cents a bushel, and there were seed and fertilizer costs. So he decided to dump them rather than sell.

Atom Helps Grow Better Food Scientific Experiments Show; Studies Are Now Being Pushed

By BOB McHUGH

BELTSVILLE, Md. — The atom is at work here—not to produce another instrument of terror, but to help put better food on your table at a lower cost to you.

Government scientists at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center have been accumulating a wealth of farm knowledge through the use of radioactive materials.

One highly important phase of their experiments is on the use of fertilizers, top item on the soil expense list of most American farmers. They use nine million tons per year of phosphate fertilizers, alone.

Consequently, anything the scientists can learn about more effective use of fertilizers means a better crop at a lower cost.

Studies Pushed

This is how they proceed in their studies:

A small piece of highly radioactive phosphorus is shipped to the Beltsville Research Center from the atom plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

From this a quantity of radioactive phosphate fertilizer is made. The fertilizer is placed in the soil, and the crop under investigation is grown.

Sample plants are taken at different stages of growth. The phosphate is extracted from the sample and placed in a lead chamber.

In the lead prison a Geiger counter measures its radioactivity. The scientists previously determined the Geiger count of the radioactive fertilizer.

By comparing the Geiger count of the fertilizer with the Geiger count of the phosphate taken from the plant sample they can determine how much of the phosphate used by the plant came from the soil and how much came from the fertilizer.

For example, if the count on the plant sample measures only half of the count of the fertilizer, the conclusion is that the plant got half of its phosphorus from the soil and half from the fertilizer.

This provides the basis for determining at what stage of growth phosphate fertilizers should be used, on which plants and what is the best method of application.

Dr. Frank W. Parker, who is in charge of the experiments here, says the following conclusions have been drawn from isotope work in the phosphate fertilizer field:

(1) Super phosphates (the most common form) are as effective and frequently more so than some of the more newly developed forms.

(2) The best method of application in fertilizing row crops is to place the phosphate within about two inches of the seed at the same depth or an inch below.

(3) For hay crops, application on the surface is very effective. (It has been widely held that the fertilizer should be worked down into the soil.)

(4) There is a wide difference between crops in the manner in which they take phosphates from fertilizers. (In one experiment potatoes took 60 per cent of their phosphates from the fertilizer and 40 per cent from the soil, while corn took only 30 per cent of its phosphate from the fertilizer.)

More Conclusions

Many more conclusions in other phases of the research have been drawn, and it is expected as experiments continue that much more will be learned with the results affecting the quality and quantity of the food America produces.

Radioactive fertilizer has been shipped from Beltsville to research centers in 29 states and Canada.

At least 23 crops are under present investigation and the study has spread to fruit trees and the possibilities of introducing phosphate fertilizers into irrigation canals.

Before the horror of Hiroshima, farmers could only tell what their fertilizers were doing by observation and determining the chemical changes that occurred in plants.

Now the atom is removing the guess work.

Two Thrillers

Indians Close in
On Leading Yanks

By JOE REICHLER
(By The Associated Press)
For a while it looked like Custer's last stand at Crosley Field Sunday -- and the outcome was pretty much the same, too. Cincinnati dropped a pair to Brooklyn, 9-8, 2-0.

The Reds entered the bottom of the opening game ninth trailing the Dodgers 9-3. They they found a pitched ball.

Joe Adcock opened the Redleg half by drawing a base on balls. Ted Kluszewski and Bob Usher singled to load the sacks. Johnny Pramesa followed with a single to short center for a run. That was all for starter Johnny Schmitz, Carl Erskine taking over the mound.

Johnny Wrosteck greeted him with a single, scoring Kluszewski and Usher. Pramesa going to second. Hank Edwards, another pinch-hitter, drew a walk and the bases were loaded again. Bob Adams singled to center, scoring Pramesa and Wrosteck. Herm Wehmeier, running for Edwards, moved to second. Grady Hatton attempted a sacrifice bunt, but all hands were safe on a fielder's choice.

Then the Reds' luck drained completely. Lloyd Merriman, pinch-hitting for Danny Litwhiler, popped to PeeWee Reese. Adcock, up for the second time, slammed into a game-ending double play.

Howie Fox pitched for Cincinnati in the finale and had a tough guy to face in Ralph Branca. Branca, gunning for his ninth win, got it -- although he had drive in both runs himself for the 2-0 shut-out.

Rube Walker's double, an infield out and Branca's single scored the first Brooklyn run off Foxie in the third frame. Walker also touched off the second Brooklyn scoring action. He slammed a single past Kluszewski at first to open. Don Thompson ran for Walker and reached third on Campanella's hit-and-run single over Connie Ryan's head. He scored on Branca's squeeze bunt to the right of the plate.

TWO WEEKS AGO you wouldn't have given a nickel for Cleveland's pennant chances. That was when the Indians, opening a vital eastern swing, dropped two straight games to the Yankees and fell 2½ games behind the league-leading New Yorkers.

But today the triumphant Tribesmen rate even money to dethrone the defending champion Yankees.

True, the homeward bound Indians still trail the New Yorkers. But the margin is now a mere half game.

Cleveland swept the four game series with the Athletics, closing with a pair of 6-3 triumphs yesterday to make it 11 consecutive wins against the A's. They go home with a 10-4 record in the east.

In sharp contrast, the Boston Red Sox suffered a wretched home stand, for them. They divided 14 games to fall into third place, 3½ behind the Yankees. New York, Cleveland and Boston began the latest swing in a virtual first-place tie.

Detroit's Tigers put the finishing touches to the Red Sox' sorry home stay by winning two, 3-1 and 8-5 while the Yankees whipped the St. Louis Browns, 6-2 and 4-3. The double triumph gave New York and 11-4 record against the west in its latest stand.

Chicago's fourth-place White Sox ended a poor eastern jaunt with a 6-5 victory in Washington. They return to the west with a 5-7 showing that cost them 4½ games to the league leaders. Trailng by only 2½ games two weeks ago, they now are seven games behind the Yanks.

THE BROOKLYN Dodgers continue to roll in the National League, after having socked the Cincinnati Reds twice, 9-8 and 2-0, to increase their margin over the runnerup New York Giants to 9½ games. The Giants captured the rubber of their three-game set in St. Louis, 8-4.

Philadelphia's third-place Phils pummeled nine Pittsburgh pitchers for a 5-1 and 12-7 sweep of their twin bill. Boston's Braves whipped the Cubs twice in Chicago, 7-4 and 4-3.

Ralph Kiner of the Pirates hammered three home runs to raise his total to 31. It tied him with Brooklyn's Gil Hodges for the major league lead. Kiner's first homer came in the seventh inning of the opener and ruined Bubba Church's bid for a no-hitter. It was the only hit off the Philly right-hander who notched his 12th victory. A seven-run eighth inning won the second for the Phils.

Bosox Buy Catcher
BOSTON, Aug. 6—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox yesterday announced purchase of catcher Aaron Robinson's contract from the Detroit Tigers and the sending of pitcher Paul Hinrichs to Kansas City of the American Association.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
Batting: Roy Campanella, Dodgers—11; two homers, one with the bases loaded, to lead the Dodgers to a 9-8 first-game victory over Cincinnati.
Pitching: Joe Ostrowski, Yankees—Relieved starter Albie Reynolds with the tying and winning runs on base and nobody out in the ninth and retired the Browns without a score as the Yankees won 4-3 to complete a sweep of the doubleheader with St. Louis.

Loose Attack and Tight Defense
Is Planned for OSU Football

BY FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6—(AP)—A loose attack and a tight defense --that's the formula on which "Woody" Hayes hopes to build a winning team in his opening campaign as Ohio State's grid mentor. Although the opening game with Southern Methodist is almost two months away, the burly boss of the Bucks said today his lineup was pretty well set, he had "some mighty good boys", and he was looking forward to his big time debut as a challenge and an interesting experiment.

Third Game in Row
Is Won by Moose

The Washington C. H. Moose made it three games in a row, on the win column side, as they beat the Bowersville team 7 to 4 on the Good Hope diamond Sunday afternoon in a SWO league game.

Kenny Dawes gave up five hits in winning the game and got four strike outs. He was well backed by his teammates who made only three miscues in the field.

Compton, the losing hurler, gave up 11 hits and got two strikeouts in his credit.

The Moose got three runs in the first inning, another one in the fifth and three more in the sixth, to put the game on ice. Bowersville got two runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth to account for their scoring. Only seven innings were played, since the Bowersville team forfeited the game by using an unauthorized player.

The next game coming up for the Moose will be in the tournament which will be starting in the next couple of weeks.

Question Marks
In Selection of Baseball Boss

NEW YORK, Aug. 6—(AP)—It is uncertain that baseball will elect a new commissioner Tuesday, but one thing is certain--if and when he is elected he will face the biggest problem ever confronted by a baseball czar.

The man who succeeds A. B. Chandler must among other things:

1—Represent baseball in the congressional investigation of the game now under way in Washington.

2—Decide what, if anything, can be done about the reserve clause, already under legal attack.

3—Attempt to work out a television and radio policy that will satisfy the minor leagues where attendance has fallen sharply.

4—Deal with the problem raised strongly in the Washington hearings of making the Pacific Coast League a third major league.

The complexity of these problems has caused the 16 major league owners to go slow on choosing a man to replace Chandler.

Sal Yvars, utility catcher for the New Yorks Giants, once was a shortstop but switched to catching at the suggestion of Carl Hubbell.

Sabina Outing
At Country Club

Afternoon of Golf
Climaxed by Supper

It was Sabina Day at the Washington C. H. Country Club Sunday.

It started early in the afternoon and did not wind up until after a pot luck supper in the club house in the evening.

There was a mixed foursome golf tournament as the afternoon highlight. While the parents were out on the course, the children played games on their club house lawn. The day's program had been laid out in detail by the committee headed by Mrs. Everett Waddell.

All told, about 60 enjoyed the outing.

On the golf course, Chuck Cummings and Mary Haines took the low score honors and a reward of four golf balls. Their card added up to 47.

Next were Mr. and Mrs. John Petty with 50. They got two golf balls.

Hugh Zimmerman and June Ledford got two balls as the "most honest" golfers.

Everett Waddell and Peggy Cummings won the blind bogey and sun visors.

J. E. Dabe and Carmen Chance were second in the blind bogey and took down four balls.

Kenneth Stone was given three soap golf balls to keep his score clean and Chuck Cummings and Jane Petty were presented rubber axes to cut down their scores.

John Petty, who incidentally was somewhat of a football fullback at Purdue not so very long ago, got a dozen golf balls for being "the most improved Sabina golfer."

Other golfers in the tournament and their scores were: John Barnes and Mrs. J. E. Dabe, 71; Kenneth Stone and Mrs. Charlotte Zimmerman 51; Jesse Carter and Mrs. Everett Waddell 75; Hugh Zimmerman and Mrs. June Ledford 82; Kenneth Stone and Betty Martin 55; Dr. and Mrs. William Wead 61; Scott Harner and Mrs. Roger Littleton 57; Jim Martin and Mrs. Scott Harner 59; Chuck Ledford and Mrs. John Barnes 56 and Bob Haines and Mrs. Jesse Carter 61.

Tony Capuana, the club pro, was the master of ceremonies at the dinner.

Tourney Opener Lost
By WCH Girls Team

Although the Washington C. H. Girls softball team lost in the opening round of the district double elimination tourney at Chillicothe Friday evening to the Dry Run Reds, 17 to 11, they made a good showing.

The Reds got a seven run lead in the second inning, but the WCH girls came back in the next three innings to tie the score at seven-all. Then the Reds got two more and so did the Washington C. H. girls.

In the top half of the seventh inning the Reds pulled ahead by two runs, but again the WCH's came back to tie it up.

In the top of the eighth inning the Reds collected six runs to put the game on ice.

The Washington C. H. team will return next Friday evening to Chillicothe to play the Chillicothe Bluejackets in the losers bracket. The game promises to be good and the girls have every intention of coming out winner, according to their manager.

In 24 seasons, the Harlem Globetrotters, famed Negro basketball team, have won 3,574 games while losing only 246.

SWO Leaders
Get Setback

Chillicothe, leading in the SWO League, will have one more game to play, after losing to Blanchester, 8 to 5, Sunday afternoon. This puts Blanchester in second place in the standings.

All is not clear in the Jeffersonville game with Greenfield. Some dispute arose before the game, scheduled at Greenfield Sunday, and no results have been forthcoming on the outcome.

Chillicothe has a season record of 11 wins and two losses for a .846 percent. Blanchester is second with 11 wins and three losses for .786. Greenfield has won 10 games and lost four, which gives them a .714 percent standing in the league.

Wilmington has six wins and seven losses for .462, while the Washington C. H. Moose have won six and lost eight for a .429 percentage. Jeffersonville is in sixth place with five wins and nine losses for .357, and Bowersville is in seventh place with four wins and nine losses for .308.

Hillsboro is in the cellar at the present time with one win and 12 losses for a .077 percent.

Lou Boudreau Is Out With Fractured Hand
BOSTON, Aug. 6—(AP)—Lou Boudreau is lost to the Boston Red Sox for about three weeks because of a fractured bone in his left hand suffered when he was struck by a Virgil Trucks pitch.
The versatile Sockers' infielder was winged in the sixth inning of the nightcap of yesterday's Detroit doubleheader when he threw his hand up as the ball came at his head.

Attendance at 21 TRA (Thoroughbred Racing Association) tracks during the first six months of 1951 showed an increase of 3.7 per cent over a similar period in 1950.

Heat Bowl Residents Find Easy Solution by Just Evaporating

Carol Bigelow mops her brow in Phoenix' sizzling desert heat. The cooler overhead lowers inside temperature 25 degrees.

By HOWARD DEWALD
Central Press Correspondent

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Bothered with summer heat?

How'd you like to survive daily temperatures of from 105 to 120 degrees in the Southwest desert regions of Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas?

Residents there don't mind it. They've found a simple heat solution—let it evaporate.

And that's just what happens in evaporative coolers seen on almost every Southwest home. Nine out of 10 Arizona homes have coolers, more than the 88 per cent that have refrigerators or the 85 per cent that have water heaters.

Developed in the early 1930s, the coolers make desert summers more tenable.

Box-like affairs, they are stuck on roofs, on the sides of houses, and in windows of even the most modest dwellings.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., has earned the title of "cooler" capital of the world" because it has more air conditioning per capita than anywhere.

It has earned the title in self-defense.

Cars parked in the sun become so hot the metal burns. Pavements buckle and prolonged exposure to the sun must be avoided.

The same warm sun that makes the desert a balmy winter playground becomes so searing in the summer that buildings are constructed with built-in steel and concrete awnings to shield pedestrians.

Today's coolers embody the same basic principle used for hundreds of years by arid land natives who hung damp matting in front of windows or doors through which the breeze blew and was cooled.

There is a metal frame box with a packing of excelsior on three sides. The top is covered and there are small tubes which drip water to soak the excelsior. A fan in the box draws hot air into the wet excelsior where it is cooled before being blown into the house.

THE BETTER homes are built with duct work that carries the air into all parts of the house from the coolers. In others, the coolers are stuck in an open window and there is a steady blast of cool air into the house.

Large buildings use the same system on a bigger scale, although many have refrigeration systems, a method too costly for all but the wealthiest home owners. The average evaporative cooler for home costs about $100.

Unfortunately for the rest of the country, the coolers work well only in arid sections where there is little humidity. Much moisture in the air prevents the evaporative coolers from evaporating.

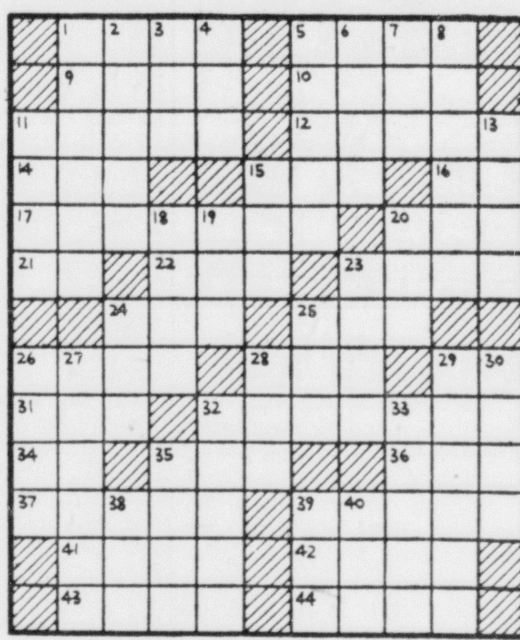

A Phoenix hamburger king has gone so far as to advertise he's cooling the outside. A system of coolers on top of an overhang keeps the temperature at 80 degrees outside on three sides of his cafe, while the mercury stands at 106 in the sun.

Phoenix companies have taken the lead in evaporative cooler production and do a $15,000,000 yearly business. They turn out 200,000 in an annual 90-day peak production period ending in early July. More than 50 per cent of the cooler production in the United States is in Phoenix.

So successful are U. S. coolers they are being shipped to other hot, arid parts of the world such as Africa, the Middle East and southeast Asia.

Two Trustees on Hospital Board Will Be Named

County Prosecutor Tells Commissioners About New Law

Francis Boyle, Sabina, was awarded the contract by the Board of Fayette County Commissioners at their Monday meeting, for the cleanup and improvement of the Miller county ditch in Wayne Township, on which some Union Township property which benefits, also is to be assessed.

The Boyle bid was for a total of $2,519.49. The only other bidder for the contract was L. N. McFarland of Circleville, whose bid was $2,558.55.

The improvement is to cover about a half mile, part of it with new 12-inch sewer tile. The contract calls for completion by Oct. 1.

The original petitioners were Ralph Penn, Ward Wilt et. al.,

Petitioner Withdraws

Ralph Penn, original petitioner some time ago for improvement of the Blue Run ditch in Wayne Township, filed a letter with the county commissioners asking withdrawal of his petition for this improvement. The request was granted by the commissioners on condition that Penn pay any costs incurred by the county up to this time in following up the petition. To Appoint Hospital Trustees

Prosecutor Clark Wickensimer, upon request of the county commissioners Monday morning for information, appeared before them and advised that under the new state law affecting the construction and maintenance of county hospitals, it would be necessary for the appointment of two additional members of the board of hospital trustees. The law specified that the appointments should be made by the county commissioners, the common pleas court judge and the probate judge of the county and that the law also required that the new members should be appointed by Aug. 13, since it is effective on that date. The two new members, to be named from opposite political parties, do not take their seats on the board until next March 1. One is to be named for a term of six years, the other five years.

It was indicated by the commissioners that a meeting between them and the two judges is scheduled for Aug. 13, one preliminary meeting, a discussion without any decisions, was held a few days ago.

Because of some questions as to interpretation of certain points in the new law, Prosecutor Wickensimer, indicated that he meantime would seek an opinion from the Ohio attorney general's office, which he hoped would clarify these points.

To many this presidential statement seemed to clear the road for Eisenhower backers to boost their man's chances.

On the other hand, Mr. Truman said he is sure Eisenhower will place duty to his country ahead of everything else and that he hopes the general will continue the magnificent job he is doing in Europe as long as necessary.

This seemed to indicate to some there is doubt in the presidential mind that the European defense talk can be completed in time for a 1952 political campaign.

West Point Scandal

(Continued from Page One) names were withheld, met with three newsmen in a private room. They denied there had been classroom cheating, and explained:

"The cribbing consisted in telling a friend what the examination questions were. The corps is split into sections for exams, with one section taking the exam on Monday, one on Tuesday, and so on."

Friendship Basis

Such exchanges of information, they emphasized, were entirely on a basis of friendship, with no other considerations.

Football Coach Col. Earl Blaik, the three cadets said, had heard of the cribbing investigation and told the squad to "tell the board" if any "of you boys have committed a wrong."

As a result, the trio said, many football players confessed and were placed on the dismissal list. Blaik himself has been rumored planning to resign from the Point's coaching staff, but so far

Rain Brings Cheers From Farmers Here

It wasn't quite a million dollar rain that fell late Sunday night and Monday morning, but it did make a good substantial down payment on it.

"The rain was closer to $500,000," said Albert Cobb, associate county extension agent. "We could still stand about three or four more days of rain like this," he said. The measured rainfall to 8 A. M. Monday was .01.

"The lack of rain was just beginning to show in the corn. Another week without rain could have caused a great deal of damage," Cobb said.

Other areas where the lack of rain was beginning to show up was in the new meadows and old pasture lands.

However, Cobb figures that both the meadows and the old pastures could snap out of it pretty fast.

Fayette County may be one of the lucky counties to get some of the scattered showers and thunderstorms forecast for Monday, Monday night and Tuesday.

The three cadets said when they first came before the special board "they threatened us with charges of perjury and possible imprisonment in Fort Leavenworth. They also threatened that movies would be shown depicting cadets exchanging information."

One of the three said the board obtained much of its information from a hospitalized cadet, called from his bed for three straight days. The cadet spokesman continued to newsmen:

"When they were through (with the hospitalized cadet), a member of the board said, 'sorry we had to use coercion.' When they realized what that sounded like, they said: 'What we meant to say was that we're sorry it took so long.'"

Drivers Switch Places in Car

Wary State Patrol Makes Arrests Though

Seven men were arrested by the State Highway Patrol and city police over the weekend on varying charges.

Two drivers of the same car found that a switch they pulled at the wheel cost them plenty. They were both charged with drunken driving.

The tipsy pair included Frank Wallace, 43, of Columbus, and Edwin Brammer, 41, of near Greenfield. The State patrol reported that Wallace and Brammer switched seats when they saw a patrolman.

They were arrested over the weekend. Wallace was fined $100 and costs for being drunk while driving and $25 and costs for not having his driver's license. Brammer was fined $50 and costs for drunken driving.

Ernest Perry, 40, of Bloomingburg, was also arrested for driving while drunk Sunday morning, and fined $100 and costs of which $50 was suspended, when he appeared before Mayor Harry Junk in Mt. Sterling.

An additional charge of failure to have his driver's license was filed by the State Highway Patrol against Wilder Mathena, 29, of Plain City, who was also booked on a charge of drunk driving.

City police arrests included the following: Melvin Rowland, 20, of Mt. Sterling, for running a red light at the corner of Fayette and Court Streets, forfeited bail of $10; Arthur A. Hoisington, 20, of Springfield, reckless operation on Washington Avenue, forfeited $30 bail, and Alvin R. Mathes, 38, Louisville, reckless operation Monday on Columbus Avenue, forfeited bail of $25.

public information officer, denied coercion or threats were used in obtaining confessions. He said each cadet was advised of his legal rights before he entered the hearing room.

Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, academy superintendent, said the screening board now in session seeks to give each cadet one last opportunity to submit "anything which the cadet may have by way of explanation, mitigation or extenuation."

COSTLY---WORTH IT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said today more than $2,000,000 would be wasted through the mass dismissal of 90 West Point cadets for cheating on examinations. "But," he added, "it is worth it."

"I think the army is to be congratulated for stepping in and cleaning up their own house, and there is no need for a congressional investigation," Johnson, a former chairman of the Senate military affairs committee, told a reporter.

Johnson said it costs an average of more than $30,000 for each young man appointed to the West Point Military Academy and so, he said, the mass dismissal could waste as much as $2,700,000.

Although Johnson insisted no congressional probe of the dismissals is needed, other lawmakers thought some sort of an inquiry was required.

Nine Republicans—members of the House armed services committee—suggested Saturday any such investigation should be aimed at the "seat of the malady" in Washington.

Sale of Prepaid Tax Receipts Short

So far, since the first of July, Fayette and all surrounding counties have shown reduced sale of prepaid sales tax receipts, compared with the same period last year.

In the state at large, collection since the first of July have been $6,088,844.85, compared with $7,066,253.26.

Apparently the general reduction in sales has been due to governmental priority on a great many products, including building materials.

For the week ending July 21, receipts in Fayette County were $6,119.65, compared with $6,560.97 for the same period last year. Sales from July 1 to Dec. 21 reached $16,496.03, compared with $21,282.06 for the same period last year.

City Firemen Here Respond to Alarms

City firemen responded to two alarms over Sunday and Monday. They put out a small grass fire at 10:10 A. M. Sunday at the corner of West Court Street and Circle Avenue. On Monday morning they went to the home occupied by Gene Orr and located at 1606 Washington Avenue, where a leaking gas valve caused a small fire. The gas was shut off and the source of danger eliminated.

Niagara Falls Death

(Continued from Page One) The crushed and twisted barrel was recovered soon after it passed over the falls. It bobbed up from the swirling waters about 500 yards from the falls near the sightseeing boat, Maid of the Mist. Hill's younger brother, Corky, and three friends in an outboard motor boat towed in the barrel. "He's not in it," Corky shouted to photographers, newsreel men and reporters in a nearby launch. The huge downpour of water, which drops at a rate of about 250,000 cubic feet a second, tore away four inert tubes. The air mattress that had been inside the barrel had been thrown loose. Red's mother, Mrs. William Hill, Sr., sobbed when the barrel was brought to the landing. "Where is he? Where is he?" she cried. "That's my oldest boy and I want him."

Bloomingsburg Boys Return from Camp

Fourteen Bloomingsburg boys today were back home from Camp Lazarus, near Columbus, with some exciting stories and glowing memories.

The boys are members of Scout troop 133, sponsored by the Bloomingsburg Lions Club.

They were taken to camp on Sunday, July 29, by the club's transportation committee of Howard Foster, Clyde Cramer, Mrs. Leonard Slager and Orville Henkle.

The boys were put "on their own" at camp when Scoutmaster Willard Huff and Assistant Scoutmaster Bucky Dumford remained behind. There was, of course, the regular Scout supervision provided at the camp however.

It was the first camping trip for the troop and its members, who ranged in age from 11 to 16 years. Some of the boys were still in the Tenderfoot rank, others were first class Scouts.

And, the Bloomingsburg boys had the added experience of helping close the camp for the season.

On the camping were Billy Welsh, Don Morris, Don Hidy, Billy Huff, Tommy Slager, Roger McLean, David Foster, Clyde Cramer, Jack Biddle, Raymond Vernon, Darrell Mickle, David Johnson, George Iden and Jerry McConaughy.

Korea Souvenirs Sent to Mother

Mrs. Carl Willett of Bloomingsburg, has received a number of souvenirs from her son, S-Sgt. Robert E. Clickner, who is in Korea with the U. S. army.

Sgt. Clickner, who just recently received a promotion to the rank of staff sergeant sent his mother a Korean battle flag he had captured in the Inje drive. The flag is red with a crudely made yellow star, and hammer and sickle insignia. Sgt. Clickner reports that one in 15 Reds carry this type of flag when going into battle.

Clickner also sent home a scrapbook with a number of interesting items collected from Korea.

Sgt. Clickner's brother Richard, also reports a boost in rating, to the rank of petty officer third class. He is stationed in Key West, Fla.
